

The new twinkle-eyed ponies will have a lot to learn about Pony Land, won't they? In the word square below, there are a lot of sayings that the little ponies and their friends use. Help Speedy, Locket, Tic Tac Toe and Sky Rocket to find them.

You will notice that one of the sayings appears more than once. When you've found it, write it down on a postcard or on the back of an envelope and send it to: My Little Pony, Pony Land Sayings, PO Box 190, Maidenhead, Berks SL6 1YX.

The closing date is April 30th and don't forget to enclose your own name and address. The competition is open to ALL READERS and the first three correct entries pulled from the postbag after the closing date will receive a My Little Pony watch; supplied by ZEON LTD.

FIZZY AND THE FLYING FISH

It had been raining for days and days in Pony Land and the little ponies were feeling restless. So Majesty twirled her magic horn and made them an indoor playground.

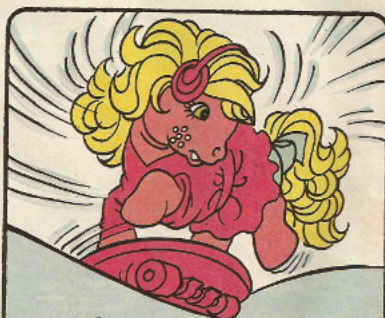

© 1987 HASBRO INDUSTRIES (UK) LTD.

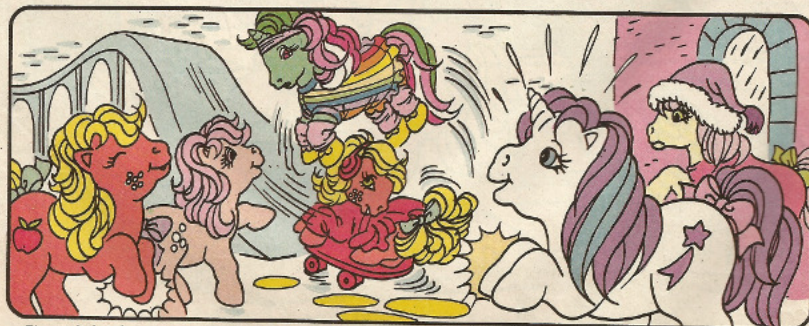

"Happy hooves! Did you see how quickly I came down the ski slope?" laughed Posey. "I did," said Applejack. "I wasn't sure if you'd be able to stop." "It's easy when you know how," explained Posey. "I think I'll have a go now," said Applejack.

"If Applejack can do it, so can I," sang Fizzy. And before Posey could stop her she danced behind Applejack.

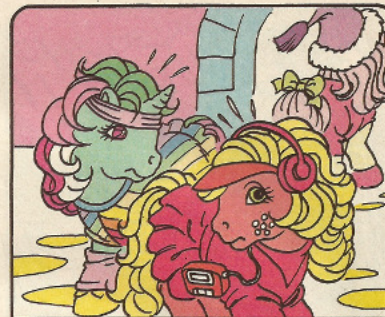

"Fizzy, don't be silly. Come down!" cried Posey. "Applejack is sure to skate backwards." Posey was quite right.

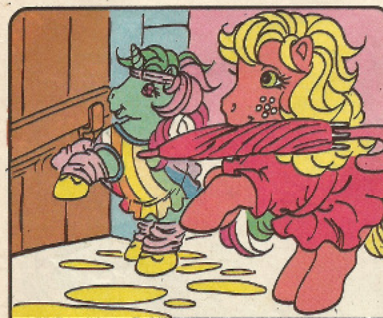

Fizzy didn't have time to turn round as Applejack whizzed nearer and nearer to her. "I'll have to jump!" shrieked Fizzy. "Watch out, everyone." Somehow, as Fizzy jumped, Applejack managed to skate under her. The baby ponies cheered loudly.

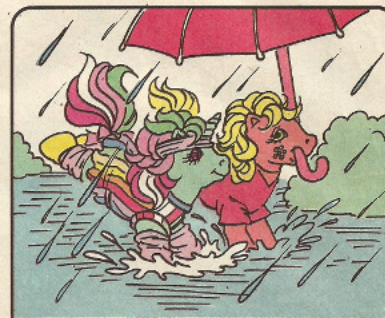

But Posey didn't cheer. She was very cross. "You might have caused a bad accident," she said.

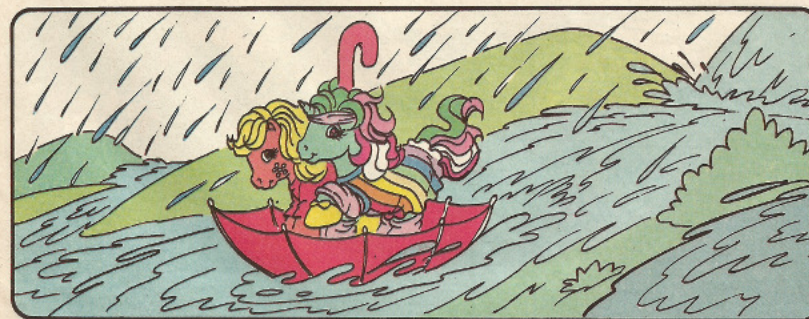

"Well we didn't!" retorted Applejack, who secretly was feeling rather shaky. "You're both stupid!" stated Posey.

"Let's go out to play," whispered Fizzy. "It's raining, stupid," giggled Applejack. "We'll have to borrow an umbrella."

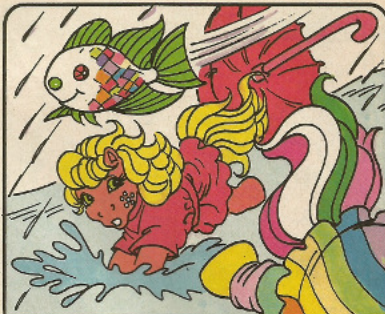

"The water's halfway up my legs," said Applejack, as she and Fizzy hurried across the courtyard.

"Just look at all the water streaming down the hill into Dream Valley," said Fizzy. "Let's turn the umbrella upside down and use it as a boat," suggested Applejack. "We can float to the bottom of the hill." "What a lovely idea," laughed Fizzy.

The ponies were almost at the bottom of the hill when Fizzy gasped loudly. "Look! There's a fish flying towards us."

"Fish don't fly," said Applejack. "Oh, heavy hooves, we're capsizing!" The umbrella jerked as the fish flew into it.

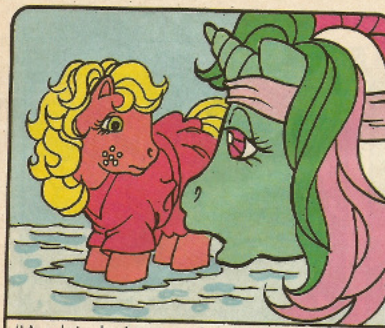

"What a jolly folly," said the fish. "I am sorry. You're not hurt, are you? Look at your eyes!" he added, staring at Fizzy.

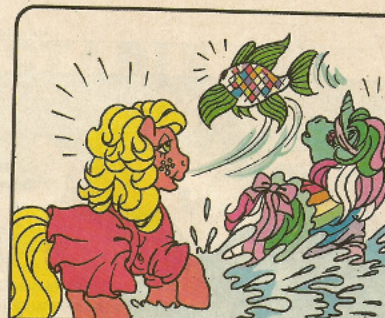

"What's wrong with her eyes?" asked Applejack as she splashed over to her friend. "They twinkle," said the fish.

"I live in a cave with four little ponies whose eyes twinkle like that," continued the fish. "They won't come out, they think everyone will laugh at their twinkling eyes." "Do you live in the Cave of Jewels?" asked Applejack. "We do," said the fish.

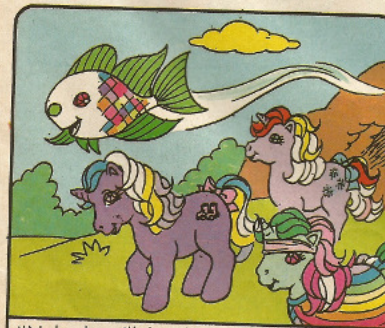

"Applejack, they must have been left behind that day you rescued me and the others from the Jewel Wizard!" shouted Fizzy.

"We must go and get them," said Applejack. "It's a long way to the cave, though." "I know a short cut," laughed the fish.

Before long they arrived at the cave. The fish called loudly, "Speedy, Locket, Sky Rocket, Tic Tac Toe! Come here, I've brought a jolly folly for you." One by one, the four twinkle-eyed ponies came to the entrance. They stared in delight at Fizzy.

"Nobody will laugh at you," said Fizzy. "Come on, we're taking you home." "Jolly Folly, I'll lead the way!" cried the fish.

"We lost the umbrella but we found some new friends," said Applejack, when they arrived at Dream Castle.

SHOW STABLE TIDY-UP DAY

"Come along, baby ponies, it's time we gave the Show Stable a spring-clean," said Lemon Drop. "It's looking rather shabby after all the rain and snow we've had this winter. Baby Gusty, bring the broom. Baby Lucky, get a pail of soft water from the Waterfall. Baby Lickety-Split, go and ask Confetti for some soft paper dusters."

Off went the baby ponies and soon everyone was hard at work.

Baby Lucky washed the floor and Baby Lickety-Split polished it until they could both see themselves in it.

"It looks just like a deep pool... I wish it was... all this hard work has made me hot... Happy-go-Lucky, I wish I could cool down a bit," cried Baby Lucky.

"Happy hooves, Baby Lucky, it's turned into a deep river... come on... let's go in," said Baby Lickety. "Pony feathers, it's a mint ice-cream river. It tastes delicious! You are clever!"

"What did I do?" asked Baby Lucky looking rather puzzled. "Oh, Baby Lickety, you've drunk up all the river... it's just a polished stable floor again," he giggled.

"Let's go and see if Baby Gusty has swept up all the fallen leaves... the wind has blown lots off the trees today," said Baby Lickety-Split. "Pony feathers, yes, look, everything has been swept clean now... and Baby Gusty is dancing with her broom!"

"Don't forget to polish my cups, I don't want them to look dull," cried Lemon Drop who was busy checking her new fences. "Oh, pony feathers, I forget to get any polish. Now what shall we do?"

"I've got lots of silver ribbons... could we use those?" asked Baby Ribbon.

"We can try... Happy-go-Lucky, I wish that they were silver polishing ribbons, just like the ones Majesty makes for cleaning her magic shoes," muttered Baby Lucky to Baby Gusti, as Baby Ribbon handed everyone a bunch of ribbons.

"Hey, Baby Lucky, you've done it again... happy horseshoes! We've all got a silver polishing cloth," laughed Baby Gusti. "The cups will soon shine as bright as ever now!"

"Let's see who can get the brightest shine," cried Baby Lickety-Split as she started to polish her cup.

The babies polished and polished until every cup in the Show Stable gleamed as bright as the new silvery moon.

"You've all done really well," cried Lemon Drop looking very pleased. "Every cup deserves a prize... in fact you all deserve a special rosette... a silver one!"

"Oh, pony feathers, I've no silver ribbons left," sighed Baby Ribbon. "I haven't any ribbons at all!"

The baby ponies all looked disappointed.

"Can't you do anything?" asked Lemon Drop to Baby Lucky.

The baby boy pony shook his head. "I can't..." he began. Then Baby Lucky stopped. Coming towards him was tiny Sammy Snail and... as he crawled along Sammy left a silver trail behind him!

"Oh, Happy-go-Lucky, Sammy, you've come along just at the right moment," cried Baby Lucky happily. "What a lucky little pony I am... Snail trail of silver hue, change to ribbons of silver too! A rosette of silver for one and all, and decorate Lemon Drop's stable stall!"

"Pony feathers, we've all got a silver rosette... and how pretty the Show Stable looks decked out with silver ribbons," cried the little ponies. "Well done, Baby Lucky!"

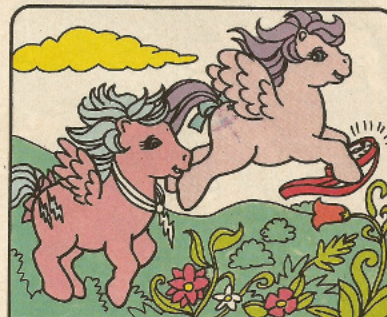

"Oh, happy horseshoes, I'm just lucky that Sammy came along and my magic rhyme worked," said Baby Lucky shyly.

But we know better, don't we?

FIREFLY'S SPECIAL QUEST

Final Part

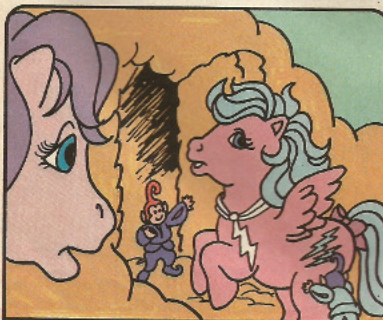

Firefly and North Star are flying west to find Majesty's final shoe which has been stolen by the Whirlwind Wizard.

"Firefly, we're flying back to Pony Land!" said North Star. "Your compass must be wrong!" cried Firefly. "Check it!"

"My compass is never wrong," said North Star. "Watch out, the wind pixies are trying to blow us off course!"

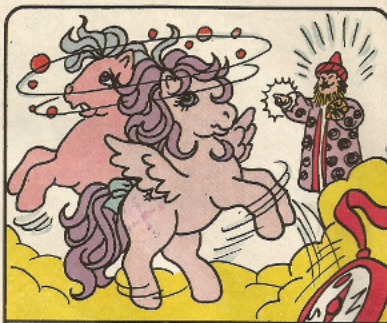

"Why are you doing this? We thought you were our friends!" cried the ponies. "We are, look inside the cloud!"

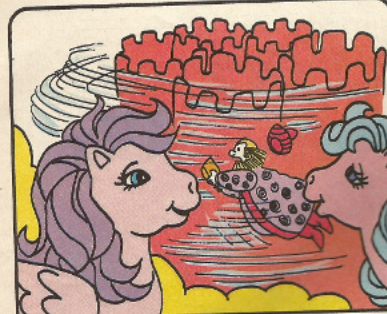

"It's Whirly Castle where the wizard lives!" said Firefly. "Look, there he is at the window, holding the shoe...and laughing!"

"Whirly, give us back Majesty's shoe!" cried the ponies. "Never, this is one shoe that she will never see again!" mocked Whirly.

He pointed his finger and poor North Star and Firefly whirled round and round until they were quite dizzy.

"What's happening?" asked Firefly. "I think the wizard's having a whirl of a time," giggled North Star.

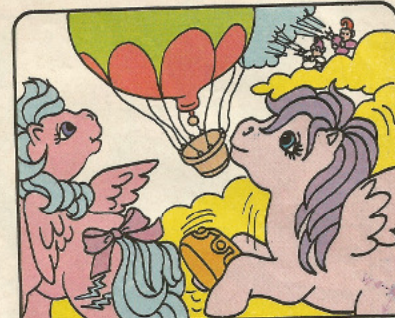

"Please stop, my head's spinning. Here, take the shoe!" wailed the wizard, as he whirled round yet again.

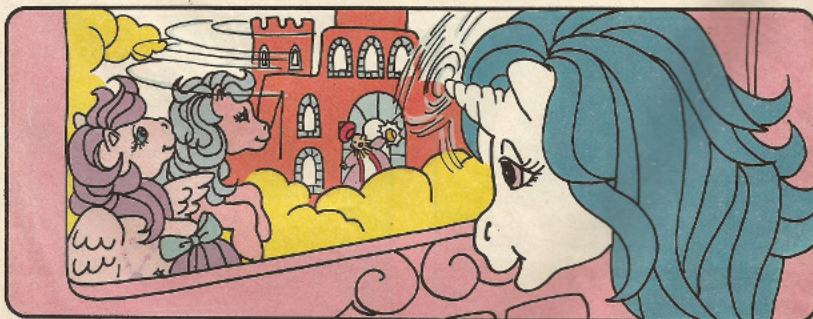

Back at Dream Castle Majesty saw what was happening in her magic mirror. "Oh, my poor friends!" shouted Spike. "Majesty, can't you do something?" pleaded Lemon Drop and Cotton Candy. "It's time that bad Whirly Wizard was taught a lesson!"

"Thanks," cried North Star catching it, as Firefly touched her charm. The wizard stood still. "Oh, my poor head," he cried.

"Now to get the shoe back to Majesty," said Firefly. "Look, the west wind has sent a wind balloon to take us home," said North Star.

Majesty nodded. Softly she sang, "Whirly's castle whirl and whirl, wicked wizard, whirl and twirl! Soon you will beg me...to stop and set you free! And ask the ponies to take my shoe to me!" And round and round twirled the castle...and the wizard!

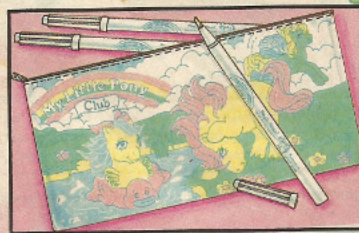

And so, Firefly and North Star arrived home safely, their special quest completed. Majesty was waiting to welcome them.

"Well done," cried Majesty, putting her shoes on. "I don't think Whirly Wizard will steal them again... do you?"

ROCK CANDY MAGIC

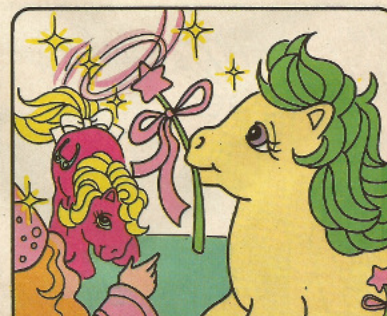

Some of the little ponies had gone for a nibble up the delicious Rock Candy Mountain where every kind of sweet grew.

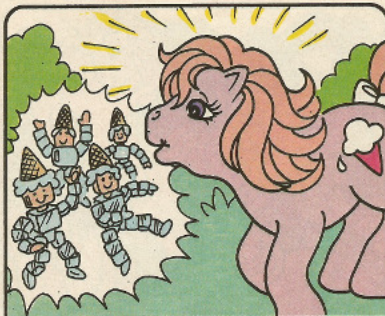

"I do love it here," cried Baby Applejack, nibbling an apple from the toffee apple tree. "I think I'll stay here instead of going back to the Lullaby Nursery." "Pony feathers, you won't...little baby ponies sleep in beds!" said Magic Star.

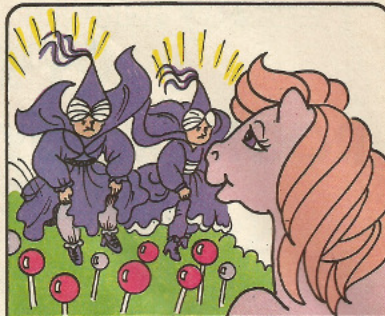

"Please let her stay. I get so lonely up here by myself. I am the only Candy Floss fairy on the mountain."

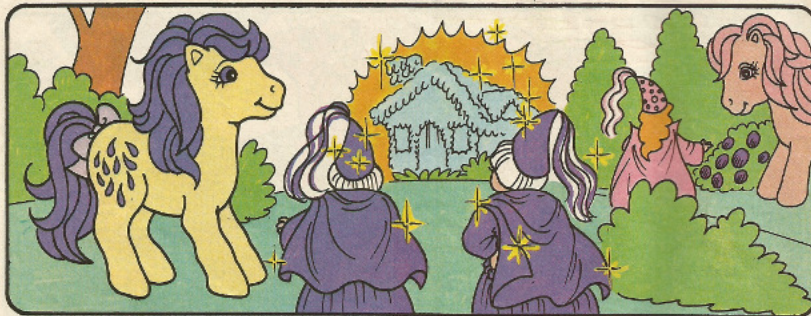

"Your poor little fairy," cried Magic Star. "I'll grant each pony a wish so that they can each make you a sweet companion!"

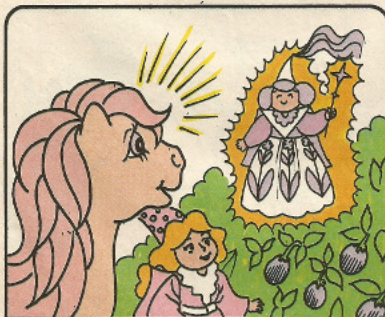

Baby Lickety-Split wished first...and suddenly a troupe of ice-cream imps appeared. "You feel cold!" said the baby.

Lemon Drop wished hard and two cross looking ladies appeared...and jumped over a lollipop bush...just like Lemon Drop!

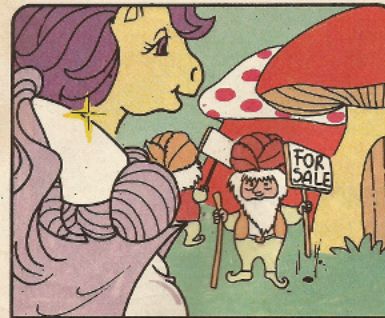

"You've forgotten to build us a house," they grumbled to Lemon Drop. "No, I haven't," she replied. "It's over there, made from Lemon Drops!" "What sour faces they've got," Fairy Candy whispered to Cotton Candy. "I'll make you a sugar plum friend," Cotton Candy said.

Cotton Candy used her wish and down from the tree flew a lovely Sugar Plum Fairy. Candy was so pleased!

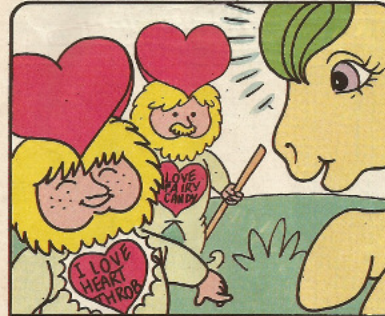

Magic Star sent word to Majesty and the royal pony twirled her horn so that the others could use their wishes.

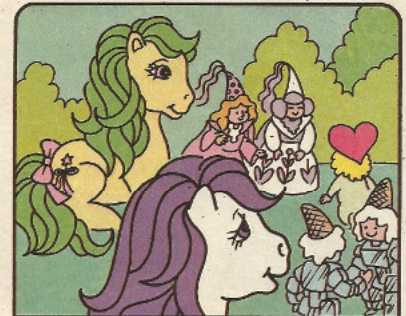

Back on the mountain two red-cheeked gnomes appeared, wished there by Cherries Jubilee. They were old and wise.

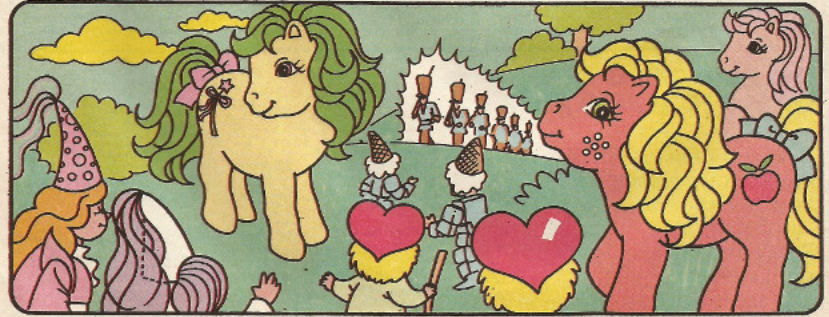

"My name is Sweet Cherry and this is old Cherry Jubjube," said one gnome. "You're very welcome," said Fairy Candy.

"I know who wished for you!" cried Magic Star, as two pixies appeared. They had heart-shaped hats on their heads.

"Oh, thank you, everyone. Now I have lots of friends," cried Fairy Candy. "Oh...what's happening?"

"Don't be afraid," laughed Magic Star. "It's just your final friends sent by Majesty...a troop of chocolate soldiers to protect you from any unwelcome visitors!" "What a wonderful gift," cried Fairy Candy. "But I promise...they will never chase you away!"
